Brinkley's is holding its rates for 2011

Brinkley's Estate Agents, today reported although VAT and the cost of living may have risen, Brinkley's rates have not.

Already off to a great start for the New Year, Brinkley's Estate Agents is holding its rates into 2011.

"There are enough pressures in life without having to pay higher rates to sell or let your property." said Robert Brinkley, MD of Brinkley's Estate Agents. "So we have decided to keep our excellent rates for the foreseeable future."

"Of course, we can't do anything about the VAT but as they say in certain circles, 'Every little helps'."
